Information about the accessibility of this tourist resource has been provided by users

General Information

La tumba de Humayun es un complejo de edificios de arquitectura mogol en la ciudad india de Delhi. Comprende la tumba principal del emperador Humayun, así como otras tumbas, mezquitas y otras construcciones. El complejo está considerado por la Unesco como Patrimonio de la Humanidad desde el año 1993, ya que es una de las primeras muestras del arte arquitectónico mogol. Es, además, uno de los complejos que mejor se han conservado. El edificio que contiene la tumba se encuentra en un jardín con mucha vegetación y canales de agua. Se puede acceder en coche hasta muy cerca de la puerta.
